ATF Gardening

Adult Training Facility Gardening at BEi

In the early stages of planning the garden at BEi, John Anderson Construction donated the top soil and master gardener, Laura Chapel, created two garden spaces; one for herbs and one for vegetables. In June, when the vegetable garden was planted, Chapel came to BEi and assisted individuals with getting the vegetables planted and mulching the pathways. The vegetable garden has accessible quadrants with pathways that allow for easy navigating when tending to the garden. The vegetable garden consists of tomatoes, beans, radishes, peas, lettuce, and squash. The herb garden has basil, oregano, sage, rosemary, and chives.

Each morning, our individuals spend time maintaining the vegetable and herb gardens. They water and weed, and have helped build a fence around the vegetable garden to keep animals out. When vegetables become ready to harvest, they are used to create healthy snacks. The first vegetables that were ready to eat were some bright red radishes which were used to make a delicious radish and garlic cream cheese dip. Fresh herbs have been used to brighten up a medley of roasted vegetables and a green bean salad was made using fresh green beans from the garden. The ATF individuals enjoy maintaining the garden and are delighted with the healthy and delicious reward of fresh vegetables.

ATF Enjoys Drumming

One of our favorite ATF community activities is attending a drumming circle on Tuesday mornings at St. Paul’s Lutheran Church. Lead by Diane Scarcella, they play on djembe drums and sometimes incorporate other instruments such as tambourines, rain sticks, shakers, and maracas.

BEi Walking Club

Every Tuesday throughout the summer months, for an hour after work, a group comes together to walk around the North Warren community. Walking has many health benefits, such as maintaining a healthy weight, improving circulation and helps support your joints. It’s also a good way to unwind after a day of work and boosts your overall mood.

Jamestown Jammers Game

Matt throws the first pitch at a Jamestown Jammers game this summer. We coordinate an outing and encourage family and friends to attend and enjoy a day at the ball field. We had approximately 60 people attend to cheer on the Jammers. The weather was perfect and the Jammers pulled out a victory.

BEi Annual Picnic

The Annual BEi picnic at Chapman State Park was held on July 22nd. Every year we celebrate all of the hard work with a day of fun and relaxation. We played games, ate a catered lunch, and swam in the lake.

Executive Director as Learner

Over the last several months, Dr. Clark has taken time to meet with both individuals and groups to learn firsthand about the dreams, hopes, aspirations, and accomplishments that exist at this time with BEi. From these exchanges, Dr. Clark hopes to develop a clearer sense of the course upon which to embark in the pursuit of the mission of BEi. His personal goals are 1) to get the know the people and programs in BEi as fully as possible, 2) to examine the critical issues at BEi, 3) to identify norms that will affect how BEi may function in the future, 4) to identify the tasks that need to be accomplished by ranking them in priority order, and 5) to establish how and by whom these tasks should be accomplished. In order to gather this critical information, Dr. Clark has conducted over forty-nine interviews with board members, employees, community members, and parents.
