What are SIB Sessions?

SIB Sessions are aimed at providing a comfortable setting for sharing and learning about the ups and downs of being a brother or sister to a sibling with a disability.

SIB Sessions is a nine session group that takes place at the Barber National Institute on the third Saturday of the month from 11am –2pm.

During the sessions, siblings are able to go swimming in the Barber National Institute pool, eat a light lunch, and enjoy a variety of fun activities such as crafts, games, and field trips.

SIB Sessions are offered to siblings ages 5 through 15 (16th birthday being the cut off date) and are offered free of charge to all participants.

Shawn Miller will be returning to his position as SIB SESSIONS COORDINATOR. Shawn graduated from Edinboro University in 1995 with his Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education. In 2012, he obtained his master's degree from Edinboro in Special Education and started working at the Barber National Institute. He worked at Sib sessions coordinator for many years but left to obtain his Doctor of Education degree. In 2020, he defended his dissertation on Teacher Retention at the University of Pittsburgh. He is currently enrolled at Edinboro University once again to obtain his Principal and Special Education Supervisor Certifications. In addition to teaching for the Barber National Institute and Sib Sessions, Shawn works with three clients in the Agency With Choice program. He further is an adjunct professor in the education department at Mercyhurst University, volunteers with Gliding Stars of Erie, volunteers as a Chapter Advisor for the Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity at Gannon University, and serves on the board for the ARC of Erie County. In his free time, Shawn can be found with his husband Jerry and his dogs Marston, Braxton, and Nicklaus.
